ALL IS READY FOR GREATEST STATE FAIR

Nineteen Counties Listed to Date—Irrigation and Good Roads To Be Feature

With 19 counties having already listed and reserved space in the new pavilion for county exhibits and six farmers of different parts of the state entered in the industrial farm products class, and several more counties and individual displays in correspondence and favorable prospect—to say nothing of the great number of entries in the special products' competition—the agricultural and horticultural exhibition this year will, beyond doubt, surpass that of any previous state fair.

Last year there were but 14 counties to participate in the competition between counties and the competition was so keen and close that there was but the fraction of a point's difference between the scoring of Union county, the winner of the first prize, and Lane county, a close second. With five more counties entered this year the competition promises to be just as keen and the exhibits, in the aggregate, will be far more representative of the state's resources and possibilities than ever before.

The counties which have thus far reserved space for exhibits are: Baker, Benton, Clackamas, Coos, Douglas, Grant, Harney, Linn, Jackson, Josephine, Malheur, Marion, Polk, Multnomah, Umatilla, Union, Wallowa, Wasco and Tillamook. Those still in prospect and under consideration are: Crook, Jefferson, Lane, Lincoln, Lake, Wheeler and Yamhill.

Among many farmers of the state who have entered their products in the individual farm products' contest are: James Stewart, of Fossil; D. M. Lowe, of Ashland; Burton H. Peck, of Heppner; Leonard Gilkey, of Thomas; C. A. Minor, of Heppner; and C. E. Donaldson, of Tillamook. There are at least three others who still have the matter under favorable consideration and will probably come in later. There were but three entries in this class last year.

J. E. Reynolds, of La Grande, member of the state fair board, who has supervisory jurisdiction over the agricultural and horticultural departments, and F. B. Curry, of La Grande, who is superintendent in charge of these exhibits and who has been working up interest and assembling displays of products from every section of the state, both report splendid progress and results and anticipate record-breaking exhibits in both of these divisions at this year's fair. Available space in the new pavilion is already being taxed to the limit to accommodate the applications for reservations.

The livestock department, including poultry, dairy products and machinery, art, textiles, school children's industrial, manufactures, implement, machinery and vehicle exhibits will all be of the highest order of excellence and cover a much greater scope than ever before. The 1916 state fair will be educational in every particular and respect and there will be illustrated lectures, motion pictures shows and practical working demonstrations along every line of industry and endeavor.

There will be working demonstrations and instructive lectures in both irrigation and good roads' building, with educational displays of results in both departments; the children's industrial exhibits will be much larger and more representative than ever; there will be 30 boys from 20 counties and 37 girls from 18 counties in the Boys' and Girls' camps of instruction, as against 20 each last year. The night horse show and racing program promises to be wonderfully attractive features of this year's fair; there will be a plentiful supply of pure water; ample and comfortably appointed rest-rooms and toilet facilities for both sexes, with trained and courteous colored attendants in charge, and everything will be different, far different and better than any state fair in the 55 years of its existence.

Company M Refuses to Serve Under Gehlhar

When orders were received at Camp Withycombe last week from the war department that the Third Oregon Infantry be mustered out immediately there was rejoicing among most of the men, for whatever opinion they had when on the border, they had no desire to linger long at Camp Withycombe, Clackamas. When they reached there from the south they were anxious to get home. They were beginning to lose interest and pep at Clackamas.

The regiment will be mustered out by the beginning of next week, when the Company I boys will be home. Monday the new oath was administered. All in Company I took the oath but Aline, Shortell, Thompson and Berk. There were some defections in Company H of Portland. Company G of Oregon City fell down so hard that it is doubtful if the organization will be kept in existence, while Company M of Salem, which had 132 men, got down to 29 and will probably come up to 30. The principal trouble with the members of Company M, it is reported, was that they would not take the new oath and serve under Captain Max Gehlhar, but would do so if he resigned. Up to this writing he has not handed in his resignation.

A committee of non-commissioned officers laid before Col. McLaughlin charges that Captain Gehlhar encouraged espionage. There is also dissension among Company G with Captain Blanchard.

Those who have taken the new oath serve out their present terms of enlistment and then go on the reserve for three years. The privates will receive $3.75 a month pay and in each company there will be 19 first class privates receiving $3 extra. Those above privates will be paid more in proportion to their rank. The captain will receive $600 a year, first lieutenant $500 and second lieutenant $400. Woodburn Independent.

COMPANY M. HAS 22 MEN LEFT OUT OF 134

Home Early Next Week, and Is Given 60 Days to Get Recruits

A total of 22 men out of the 134 men in Company M took the new oath this morning and will be mustered out of the service of the federal government into the service of the state as Company M. The minimum requirement for a company in the national guard is 65 men but the mustering of recruits extended the time in which to recruit the additional number 60 days from today. If this number is not made up by that time Company M will be taken from Salem and will be formed in some of the other towns of the state that have applied for a militia company.

It is thought by the officers of the company that 45 men can be secured before the time limit expires and Salem will be assured of a militia company. If Salem fails to supply the men it is probable that Tillamook will be given the company M of the Third regiment as this city now has a company partly equipped and has made application for admission into the third regiment when the first vacancy exists. The new oath calls for three years in the reserve in addition to the three years in the service of the state on the active list otherwise it is the same as the old law except that the men are paid regular army pay for drilling and parades and ceremonies are counted as drill periods. The company will be mustered out of the federal service early next week and the men will be immediately returned to Salem and the efforts to build the company up to sufficient strength to save it for the city will be begun as the armory, which serves as a auditorium for the city, will be closed in the event Salem loses the militia company.

All of the other companies in the regiment have signed up the minimum re-

Both Parties Claim Indiana Is Theirs

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Counter claims of victory in Indiana for Hughes and Wilson were made here today by E. D. Toner of Indiana, republican and Vance McCormick, national democratic chairman. Toner arrived at republican headquarters today and predicted victory for Hughes in Indiana. He declared 90 per cent of the Hoosier progressives had come over to Hughes. McCormick, when he arrived at democratic headquarters today said: "I never saw such enthusiasm as at the notification of Vice President Marshall."

Charles Warren Fairbanks, who speaks at Atchison, Kan., tonight, will return to his home in Indianapolis following the address because of an attack of gastritis. He will not speak for a few days, wishing to rest until he is fully recovered. A delegation of 100 women will go from Deatur to Springfield, Ill., to hear Governor Hughes speak on Tuesday. Mrs. E. H. Fank will head a delegation from Bloomington.

Steve Bailey Brings String of Good Ones

Steve Bailey, the wealthy race horse man who arrived in Salem yesterday with a string of racers, comes from Sacramento after an absence of four years. Mr. Bailey has ever been known for his fairness in the racing game, having spent his life training horses for the course. He was in Salem for several years with horses and for five years had the Albany track leased. About 35 years ago he had enough faith in the side land proposition to file on 160 acres along the Seattle water front. Possibly half of it was lost in later litigation, parties having made filings while Mr. Bailey was away with his horses. When the Great Northern Railroad company wished a site for its big central station Mr. Bailey received $265,000 in gold coin for the site.

quired and the regiment will be mustered out of the federal service as a whole.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Autoist Arrested Has 268 Quarts Of It

Driving an automobile which was loaded with 268 quarts of whiskey, J. A. Turner, of Stanwood, Wash., came to town last night. He was en route from Hornbrook, Cal., where he had taken on the cargo of whiskey, to Stanwood, and would have been at his journey's end by this time had the Salem police not interfered with his plans.

Acting under advice from the federal authorities at Portland, Chief of Police Welsh locked Turner up and piled the liquor in the police station, where it has attracted admiring attention from the public today.

Advice was received from the federal officials this morning that they would take no hand in the case, and a charge was filed against Turner by the state. He will have a hearing before City Recorder Elgin tomorrow morning. In the warrant, which is signed by District Attorney Ringo as private prosecutor, Turner is charged with unlawfully transferring liquors for beverage purposes in violation of chapter 250 of the Oregon laws of 1913, which requires that packages containing liquor shall have the kind and quantity of said liquor in said packages written or printed in the English language in large letters, or type attached in a conspicuous place or position where it can be easily read.

The automobile is a covered one, and bears upon its side a nursery company's sign. Attorney Glen E. Urrah has been retained by Turner.

Reception and Banquet to Be Given Company M

A reception and banquet will be given members of Company M next Thursday or Friday evening at the armory, according to the tentative plans of the Salem Patriotic League in session this afternoon.

This reception will be in the way of two minute talks by prominent citizens and responses by former members of Company M. There will also be music and after the formal part of the program, the evening will be in the way of a social session.

The Commercial club and Cherrians will be asked to do their part in welcoming the boys.

Must Build for Heavier Loads and More Speed

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 15.—R. H. Thomson of Seattle, told a joint session of the Washington Association of County Commissioners and County Engineers this morning that builders of county roads must prepare for constantly increasing loads to be moved at constantly greater speeds; that pavements must be made wider, and must in a very short time provide sidewalks for pedestrians separated from the main roads by guards or railings, and also paths on which livestock can be moved safely.

"No permanent pavement should be constructed anywhere so as to produce a grade crossing with either steam or interurban railways, and there should be no 'deadman's curves' he said. The commissioners and engineers will remain in session the rest of the week.
